Course Description :-

In this course, students focus on understanding the demands of different styles of writing, and work to improve grammatical correctness, vocabulary development, revision and editing skills. This course includes material on vocabulary, tone, diction and editing, all in the areas of academic and business writing. Students will have the opportunity to write on a number of different topics and ideas, always centered on areas of interest to them. This course helps to develop the writing skills required in today's business world. Students learn techniques for writing effective emails, memos, proposals, and reports for a variety of audiences, becoming more accurate, clear and concise.

Learning Objectives - The purpose of academic writing is to inform, analyze, argue or evaluate a topic using evidence and logic. Academic writing presents and evaluates issues and arrives at an objective position: a position that focuses on and is informed by research and reasoning rather than personal feelings and opinions. The most common purpose in academic writing is to persuade, analyze, synthesize and inform. On the other hand, business writing is intended to inform, instruct, persuade or propose a solution using facts and benefits. The purpose of business writing is to communicate information clearly and effectively. It should be easy to understand and provide the reader with all the necessary information. Companies and firms can use business writing to convince customers to buy their products or services.

Add on Course on Legal Drafting

About the course

Legal drafting is a structured method of writing legal documents, whether court pleadings or employment contracts, that abides by the law and includes legal language that's appropriate for the document and the situation in which it will be used. Those in the field may refer to legal drafting in the following contexts:

- 1-Writing legal text in a binding contract. The words you write will describe the rights and responsibilities of the involved parties.
- 2-Preparing any legal document, such as a legal letter or court motion.
- 3-Getting involved in a legal transaction, which can include legal documents but also negotiation, representation of clients, and more.

Objective of course

Legal drafting is important because the process helps to make sure that legal documents are formatted correctly, that all parties who are involved in the document are happy with the details of it, that jargon is explained, and that everything you'll be presenting to the court or another presiding body is laid out as it should be. A legal document should explain its purpose, be amenable to all parties, and be drafted in such a way that it's legally binding and acceptable in the eyes of a court.

An error in a legal draft, however small, can severely affect the meaning of that document and have long-term consequences, especially if it's a legal document that is signed and executed and that all parties must abide by moving forward. A well-constructed document can make a big difference by helping an attorney win cases in court or preventing lengthy mediations in the workplace over an employment contract dispute.

Objectives:

1. To provide an idea about the general rules and principles of drafting legal documents
2. To acquaint the major provisions related to drafting under the Indian Laws
3. To analyses issues in contracts and negotiating terms of the contract
4. To provide practical training in drafting various legal documents such as notices, sale deeds, contracts, etc.
5. To enable the students to deal read and understand legal documents which he/she may deal in their normal life.
